

Earl Kitchener and His Staff Are Killed When Mine Or Torpedo Sinks Warship

JELlicoe's Report Says All Are Lost

DESTRUCTION OF H. M. S. HAMPSHIRE OFF ORKNEYS IS DIRE CATASTROPHE OF WAR FOR BRITAIN.

ON HIS WAY TO RUSSIA

British Secretary for War Was Bound for Petrograd on Special Mission—Heavy Seas Disastrous to Small Boats.

London, June 6.—Earl Kitchener, British minister of war, and his staff were on board the British cruiser Hampshire, which was sunk by a mine or torpedo off the Orkneys. It is feared all are lost.

Admiral Jellicoe, commander of the British grand fleet, has reported to the admiralty that the British cruiser Hampshire with Earl Kitchener and his staff aboard, has been lost off the West Orkneys.

Four boats were seen to leave the Hampshire, but a heavy sea was running. Only a capsized boat and some bodies have been found. Earl Kitchener was on his way to Russia. Admiral Jellicoe reports there is little hope that there were any survivors.

Admiral Jellicoe's Report. The names of the members of Earl Kitchener's staff have not as yet been learned. Sir William Robertson, chief of imperial staff, is in London. Admiral Jellicoe's report to the admiralty follows:

"I have to report with deep regret that his majesty's ship, Hampshire, Captain Herbert J. Savill, R. N., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk last night about 8 p. m. west of Orkneys either by mine or torpedo. Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was north northwest, and heavy seas were running. Patrol vessels and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot and a party was sent along the coast in search, but only some bodies and a capsized boat have been found up to the present time. As the whole shore has been searched from seaward, I greatly fear there is little hope of there being any survivors.

No report has yet been received from the searching party on shore. H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia.

Was Bound for Russia. The Orkney Islands, off which the Hampshire went down, is off the north coast of Scotland. The Hampshire was on her way into the Atlantic and around the northern end of the Scandinavian Peninsula into the White Sea. Earl Kitchener probably intended to embark at Archangel.

The Hampshire was one of the Devonshire class of six cruisers. She was built in 1903 and normally carried 655 men. She displayed 10,850 tons, was 450 feet long, 68½ feet beam and drew 25½ feet. She was armed with four 7.5 inch, six 6 inch, two one pound, and twenty three pound guns, and two torpedo tubes. She cost $4,200,000.

The Hampshire had been in use as a transport boat and for carrying officials on special missions, having ample accommodations for the latter purpose. She was too old to take the place on the leading line. When war started, she was in the far east and was reported to have been worsted in a fight with the Germans in the South China Sea. She was one of the British squadron sent to this country for the Jamestown Exposition in 1907.

England's Greatest Soldier. Earl Kitchener was appointed Secretary of state for war in August, 1914, a few days after Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany. He was regarded as England's greatest soldier and the decision of the government to entrust him with supreme direction of the war, was received by unanimous approval.

As the war progressed and Great Britain's deficiencies in certain directions, particularly in regard to a shortage of artillery ammunition became apparent, Earl Kitchener was subjected to severe criticism, led by Lord Northcliffe. The secretary was charged with responsibility for failure to foresee the extraordinary demand for heavy shells and as a result the ministry of munitions was formed with David Lloyd George at its head. Earl Kitchener's responsibilities were further lessened by the appointment of General Sir William Robertson as chief of the imperial staff in December of last year. It was reported at that time that friction had arisen between Earl Kitchener and Field Marshal French, then in command of the British forces in France.

Created a Great Army.

Shortly after the appointment of General Robertson, Field Marshal French relinquished his command. Notwithstanding the criticism directed against Kitchener, his great accomplishments during the war are recognized universally.

Foremost of the achievements is the creation from England's untrained manpower of a huge army. At the beginning of the war Great Britain had only a few hundred thousand trained men. Today more than 5,000,000 men are enrolled for various branches of service.

There have been no recent reports of Earl Kitchener's movement. He was last mentioned in cable dispatches of Friday, when he went to Westminster Palace to be questioned by members of the house of commons, who were not satisfied with the conduct of the war. No intimation was given that he intended to leave England.

Diplomats With Kitchener.

Accompanying Earl Kitchener as his staff were Hugh J. O'Grady, former consul of the British embassy at Petrograd, and former minister at Sofia; O. A. Fitzgerald, Earl Kitchener's private military secretary; Brigadier General Ellishaw and Sir Frederick Donnan.

When the news of the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire with Earl Kitchener and his staff on board was received in London, a meeting of the British war council was immediately called. Sir William Robertson, chief of the imperial staff, who will probably become head of the war office, Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs; Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, and David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, were present at the council. The newspaper reports at the war office, who at the time had not heard the news regarding Earl Kitchener, announced: "Neither Earl Kitchener nor Premier Asquith were present."

London Sorrows.

As soon as the news of Earl Kitchener's death was received in London, special editions of newspapers, crowds started for White Hall. That thoroughfare and its extension, Parliament street, were soon filled with persons waiting the latest news and hoping the first reports were exaggerated. They found no comfort. Every blind on the big block which houses war offices were drawn and the flag was at half mast.

The crowds grew greater as the news became more generally known, and it was necessary to call out police reserves to control the vast throngs. The news of the disaster was received with even greater emotion of regret than was the first report of last week's naval battle which made everyone believe the British suffered a severe reverse.

In Fleet street boys ran from newspaper offices with extra editions, loudly shouting the news. The newspaper editors, the latest news and hoping the first reports were exaggerated. They found no comfort. Every blind on the big block which houses war offices were drawn and the flag was at half mast.

Struck a Mine.

Naval officers expressed the opinion the cruiser Hampshire must have struck a mine as it would have to be an exceedingly lucky shot for a torpedo to get a ship with her speed and under the condition of the sea which was very rough. The Hampshire carried a crew of between four and five hundred men.

DISGRACED MAN HAS STARTED COURT SUIT

Barney Ward, Who Was Rode on Rail Out of East Troy, Starts Court Action at Delavan.

East Troy, Wis., June 6.—As an aftermath of the riding out of town on a rail of Barney Ward, some twelve of the leading business men of East Troy have been served with summons and complaint and ordered to appear before court commissioners at Delavan to show cause why they should not regain possession of property that he signed away to his wife's mother on the night he was "mobbed."

NEW TROOPS MASSED TO STORM VAUX

GERMANS CONCENTRATING REINFORCEMENTS TO CONTINUE OFFENSIVE ON VERDUN OUTPOST.

ATTACKS LESS VIOLENT

Are Proceeding More Slowly in Determined Effort to Break Down Iron Defensive of French.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, June 6.—Fort Vaux, one of the northeastern defenses of Verdun, continues to be the center of German efforts but French still hold the forts and all approaches except in the northern moat in which the Germans gained lodgment, several days ago.

The Germans are now directing their efforts toward bringing up masses of reinforcements through the ravines between Vaux and Damouloup for the purpose of gradually wearing down the determined resistance of the French. Although two infantry attacks were made yesterday they lacked the intensity of previous rushes. The conclusion is drawn by French commentators, that the heavy recent losses of Germans are compelling them to proceed less vigorously for the moment, while they are reforming their scattered units.

Repulse Two Attacks.

Paris, June 6.—Two attacks by Germans on the French lines between Fort Vaux and Damouloup on the Verdun front were repulsed by the French last night, according to an official statement issued by the war office today. The heavy bombardment of Fort Vaux continued with intermittent cannonading on the west front.

Big Army Opposed Slaves.

Petrograd, June 6.—It is estimated the Russians in their new offensive campaign on the southwestern battle front are opposed by forces numbering between 600,000 and 650,000. The line between the Pripiet marshes and Rumanian border, is more than 250 miles in length.

Russian Successes.

Petrograd, June 6.—Russians continue to develop successes won by their newly inaugurated offensive. It is reported up to the present time they have captured 480 officers, 25,900 men and 17 cannon and 15 machine guns.

Ask New German Credit.

Berlin, June 6.—The government introduced a bill in the Reichstag today asking for a credit of 12,000,000,000 marks. Various new bills, including a bill for the special tax on war profits, were advanced to their third reading.

HILL DID NOT LEAVE A WILL FOR ESTATE

Widow of Railroad Magnate Files Petition to Court to Have Administrator Appointed.

St. Paul, June 6.—James J. Hill, the railroad builder, who died last week, did not leave a will and his widow, Mrs. James J. Hill, filed a petition in probate court of Ramsey county, asking that Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway Company, be appointed administrator of the estate, the value of which is placed at $10,000,000. The petition was also signed by the eight children.

Selecting L. W. Hill as administrator, the heirs followed out wishes of J. J. Hill, it was announced. Just what Mr. Hill's estate will aggregate is a question that will be determined only after administrators have spent a number of months examining securities and holdings. The sums stated in the petition is the amount now known.

It was intimated Mr. Hill's estate would be managed by the administrator directly, instead of through any institutions.

Orpet's Lawyer Insists Judge Donnelly Favors State in Excusing Veniemen.

Waukegan, June 6.—James H. Wilkerson, attorney for Will H. Orpet, on trial for murder of Marion Lambert, charged Judge Donnelly in court today with partiality in excusing veniemen. He asserted veniemen were dismissed on cause for the motion of the state when same causes failed to obtain similar action on motion by the defense.

FIFTY ARE KILLED AND MANY HURT IN ARKANSAS TORNADO

Series of Severe Storms Sweep Over Ten Counties, Causing Fearful Devastation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Little Rock, June 6.—At least fifty persons are believed to be dead and 250 injured in a series of tornadoes that swept through ten or more counties in Arkansas late yesterday.

All means of communication were cut off or crippled early today. The greatest destruction was reported at Judsonia, fifty miles northeast of Little Rock. One-third of the town was destroyed. Twenty bodies and fifty injured were recovered from the debris last night.

Reports Received.

Telephone reports received this morning from Heber Springs, say between twenty and twenty-five persons were killed and more than thirty injured in a tornado which passed through that place Monday afternoon. The entire west portion of that city is in ruins and the residents of the city proper are searching the ruins for more bodies. Many were taken out alive and died in undertaking parlors.

In Mississippi.

Jackson, June 6.—Eight persons, two whites and six negroes were killed and about fifty others injured, some seriously, by a tornado which swept through the western section of this city early today. Many homes were demolished or damaged.

ADOPT A STATEMENT FOR WOMEN'S PARTY

To Petition Republican Party to Adopt Suffrage Plank at This Convention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 6.—The National Women Suffrage assembly today adopted a statement for presentation to the resolutions committee of the republican national convention at the conclusion of the parade of suffragists tomorrow. The statement, embodied on vellum, and to be carried in the parade, says women in every state gathered in national assembly in "the name of Justice, Liberty and Equality" asks the republican party to incorporate in its platform a declaration favoring extension of suffrage "to only remaining class of unfranchised citizens—the women of our nation."

HUGHES MAY BE ACCEPTED BY COLONEL

ROOSEVELT HAS NEVER REFUSED TO SUPPORT HIM OR ANY CANDIDATE, SAYS PERKINS.

SPEECH IS DISCUSSED

Supreme Justice's Address on "Preparedness" at Washington Last Night Claimed to Be of No Significance.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 6.—Immediately before he went into conference with republican leaders, George W. Perkins, leader of the Roosevelt adherents, today gave out a statement declaring Colonel Roosevelt had not said that he would refuse to support Justice Hughes or any other man, and assailed Hughes' supporters for making capital of his "preparedness speech" in Washington last night.

Political leaders who profess to be willing to accept any man for the presidential nomination who is able to command support of both republicans and progressives, are trying today to determine whether Justice Hughes has been strengthened or weakened by the temporary concentration of all forces upon him with the avowed purpose of eliminating Colonel Roosevelt as a republican possibility.

Unquestionably the effect of Hughes' drive has been to place the whole field of candidates against him.

Conferences in Progress.

Conferences between republican and progressive leaders which lasted far into the night were resumed early today, but it is not believed any of them had participated far enough to clarify the situation within the next several hours. At least for that length of time no decided change seemed imminent.

The two latest elements to be brought into consideration today were Justice Hughes' speech in Washington yesterday and upon American Lodge of Massachusetts as a compromise candidate for the republican nomination likely to command the support of Colonel Roosevelt.

Justice Hughes' supporters pointed to his speech as a substantial declaration on the question of Americanism, and contended that it cleared up an issue on which the justice had not previously announced his attitude. The practical politicians, on the other hand, almost unanimously held to the view the speech was without significance in the present situation.

Hughes' Speech Unimportant.

They said it was not the sort of a speech expected from a scholarly man on such an occasion, that it meant neither one thing or another. Some of them declare the words of Justice were not unlike what President Wilson or Colonel Roosevelt might have been expected to say under similar circumstances. They made it plain they regarded the speech as a negligible factor in the present situation. Nevertheless, it furnished the subject for a great deal of discussion both ways among the delegates, and there was evidence that it would continue to be a topic of interest.

Almost overshadowing the maneuvering among the republicans today is the question of what the progressive convention will do when it assembles tomorrow. The republican leaders regard it as charged with possibilities of the most potent sort.

Suggested La Follette.

At a conference Sunday night between a number of prominent progressives and republicans, the former offered the name of Senator La Follette and asked the republicans if they would accept him. The republicans immediately charged the progressives with insincerity, and asserted the progressives knew there was no possibility of Colonel Roosevelt's accepting La Follette or any greenbacker upon him. George W. Perkins immediately withdrew the suggestion and indicated it was made solely for the purpose of drawing out the regular republicans.

Progressive leaders, after a careful study of Justice Hughes' speech, professed to attach little significance to the affecting political fortunes of Colonel Roosevelt.

"It was a nice gag speech, eminently proper for delivery before a girls' seminary, but does not further outline Hughes' position on vital issues before the convention," declared Chester Rowell, California progressive.

Chairman Murdoch of the progressive national committee endorsed Mr. Rowell's sentiment.

Suggests Wood.

Oyster Bay, June 6.—The nomination of General Leonard Wood for the presidency would be "acceptable" to Colonel Roosevelt as a solution for the situation at Chicago, according to two visitors who called upon the former president today, just before he left for New York to visit his publisher.

Form Combination.

Convinced Roosevelt cannot be nominated by republican convention, the defensive combination of favorite son candidates which is said to control about 650 votes, today exerted its full influence to eliminate Hughes if

George W. Perkins, Progressive leader of New York, is in Chicago urging Republicans and Progressives to get together and nominate Roosevelt. While he considers T. R. the best available candidate, he says the Progressives are prepared to agree with the Republicans on some other man, if necessary.

They can. In this effort they receive the enthusiastic and united support of all elements of progressive party leaders.

This is caucus day for state delegations, and the favorite son managers are busy trying to get their men with iron clad pledges, to stick to combination until the break comes, in accordance with some plans to be decided upon later.

HARDING IS VICTOR IN IOWA PRIMARIES

Present Lieutenant Governor Will Be Republican Choice for Governor—Suffrage Issue in Doubt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Des Moines, June 6.—Victory for Lieutenant Governor W. L. Harding for the republican gubernatorial nomination was the only certain result early today of the statewide primary held yesterday. Returns yet to be received from rural districts, it was said, would decide whether constitutional amendments provided for woman suffrage had been adopted at the polls.

The fate of the constitutional amendment, providing for equal suffrage, voted on at yesterday's primary, is still in doubt. Twelve hundred precincts out of 2,397 in the state, according to an official return are 83,390 for amendment and 83,461 against.

WILL INCREASE STATE NATIONAL GUARD SOON

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 6.—The Wisconsin National Guard will be increased from about 3,600 men to 10,800 men under provisions of the Hay-Chamberlain bill, according to estimates of officials of the guard. The annual cost, it is expected, will be more than $500,000.

The manner of raising the required number of men and the organizations which will be added to the guard will be determined by federal authorities.

Under a law passed by the last legislature, $300,000 was appropriated for the support of the militia and the organizations have been greatly strengthened.

YUAN SHI KAI PRESIDENT OF CHINA DIES

DEATH TAKES LEADING CHINESE STATESMAN ON MONDAY AFTER ILLNESS SINCE MAY 28.

REVOLUTION MENACES

Revolt Which Started With Announcement of Yuan's Intention to Establish Monarchy, Continues Threatening.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Shanghai, June 6.—Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese republic, died yesterday morning.

Yuan Shi Kai was reported to have been taken seriously ill on May 28. At that time dispatches from China said it was believed in Peking the president had been poisoned, but this report was denied by the Chinese ambassador at Washington, who insisted the president was not even ill.

Storms of Revolt Gather.

Yuan Shi Kai died while the storms of revolution were gathering in increasing strength. The revolt broke out in December, 1915, when the president announced his intention of establishing a monarchy and ascending the throne as the first emperor of a new dynasty. His resignation was set for early in February of this year but was postponed indefinitely, owing to the extraordinary rapidity with which the revolt spread through southern China. Several attempts were made upon the president's life and a bomb plot was discovered in the imperial palace.

The establishment of a monarchy was strenuously opposed by the Japanese, and final abandonment of the plan was largely credited to the representations made by Tokio.

In March he progressed, however, and the revolt progressed, and the Chinese provinces demanded the resignation of the president. In May the provinces of Shansi and Chan Tung announced their independence, and a provisional government was established by the general's commanding revolutionary forces in the south.

Intended to Resign.

The president announced on May 26, his intention to resign when a suitable successor was chosen. It was reported later that he intended to take refuge in Japan, and dispatches said he was negotiating for residence in the Japanese capital.

Premier Yuan Chi Jui immediately advised Li Yuan Hung, who had been advised of his succession to the presidency, of his resignation.

Yuan Shi Kai had been ill for several days, and his stomach trouble which was followed by a nervous breakdown, was followed by a nervous breakdown.

Death Solves Crisis.

Quiet prevailed today in the capital. The death of the president apparently solves the heated political crisis. Li Yuan Hung's succession to the presidency meets the demands of leaders in the southern provinces.

Li Yuan Hung, who becomes president of China in the regular course of events, would remain in office until October of next year, when the death of five years for which Yuan Shi Kai was elected will expire. Owing to disturbed political conditions, however, his tenure of office is uncertain.

Li Yuan Hung, who is fifty-two years old, is reported to have been in sympathy with the rebel movement.

No Word From Reinsch.

Washington, June 6.—Maintaining an attitude of reserve toward the report from Shanghai of the death of President Yuan Shi Kai, officials of both state departments and the American legation here are awaiting anxiously news from Peking. They regard it as singular that no official report of an event of such importance has been received from the American legation in Peking.

Reinsch, or the Chinese foreign office in Peking, after the lapse of more than twenty-four hours, though of the fact it was realized that if Yuan felt the victim of a conspiracy of the first acts of the conspirator probably would be to cut the telegraphic communication between the Chinese capital and the cable ports.

It was recalled by the officials here that in the early days of the uprising in 1900, reports from Shanghai stated positively that all of the foreign ministers in Peking had been done to death in the boiling oil, but it was also recalled the assassination of the German minister in Peking emanated from Shanghai just twenty-four hours in advance of the attack upon that official.

It has been reported persistently that within the past fortnight, attempts have been made to poison Yuan. This has been officially denied by the legation here, after an inquiry by cable.

NORTH DAKOTA PROGRESSIVES WANT THIRD PARTY ANYWAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 6.—The North Dakota progressive delegation, through Chairman Dorr Carroll, told Mr. Perkins today that they were not decided about the plan to hold up the progressive nomination until Saturday, but that they would be willing to do so if it would help Roosevelt.

Mr. Carroll said the time is ripe for a third party in North Dakota, and the delegation was anxious to keep its organization intact.

START OPENING WORK FOR JANESVILLE FAIR

LARGE EXHIBITION OF COMMER-CIAL PRODUCTS IS EXPECT-ED THIS YEAR.

RECEIVE ENTRIES NOW

Ticket Selling Contest Is Planned to Boost the Attendance Figures
a Material Amount.

FAIR DATES

AUGUST 8, 9, 10, 11, 1916.

With the issuing last week of the premium list of the big Janesville Fair, Secretary Harry O. Nowlan and other members of the board of directors are preparing for a siege of work which opened this morning and will continue without interruption until the fair closes on Friday, August 11.
The greatest bulk of this work will be the receiving and checking of entries for the big list of departments, a large number of which have been received to date.

Farm implement manufacturers and agencies evidently realized material gains from their exhibits at the fair last year, as is indicative by the large number of inquiries and applications for exhibit space made by these manufacturers on Secretary Nowlan this early in the season for the fair in August. As a result of many additional exhibitors already taking space for the fair this fall, the board has deemed it advisable to devote additional ground to the farm machinery exhibit. Last year 35,000 square feet was used by the machinery men and this year half again that total will be necessary to show thousands of farmers who make it a point to see and investigate every new improvement made in farm tools.

Among the Janesville firms and agencies who have engaged space are the Townsend Farm Tractor and Gas Engine company, The Janesville Chine company, Nitcher implement company, Fred Burton, Phil Dohney and L. F. Kemmerer. The Fairbanks-Morse company of Beloit and the S.
Peeman & Co. company of Racine are two of a big lot of the larger outside firms who have contracted for space for exhibits.

Ford, Boos & Schoof, Janesville contractors, who were given the contract for the erection of the new stock shed, will complete their work this week.
The buildings are model in every respect and are a necessity because of additional entries in this department and because of a desire to eliminate crowded conditions of last year.

Janesville merchants contemplating exhibiting their products in the Janesville exhibit, which, as in 1915, will be held in the big space beneath the grandstand, are advised to inform Secretary Nowlan of this immediately. A good portion of this space has been let to date.

Similarly Rock county social, fraternal, religious and other organizations and individuals planning to commence their exhibit immediately, an innovation of the fair board this year, are also requested to get in touch with Mr. Nowlan for information and instructions on this matter. The contest is to be held during the month of July, with big cash prizes for the club or organization selling the largest cash total of fair tickets. There is also a competition for individuals and for the boys and girls of the county.
Cash prizes of liberal proportions will also be given here. The tickets for the fair have arrived and have been check-ed over by Frank Crook and Secretary Nowlan.

Farmers or others desiring fair premium lists can secure them either at the office of Dr. W. A. Munn or at the store of Charles Putnam, on South Main street. For those who are unable to get to the city, Mr. Nowlan stated this morning that he would gladly mail a premium book to any person who will call him over the telephone or by mailing a request.

While the 1916 fair book was completed in every detail and proved an eye opener to secretaries of fairs throughout the northwest generally, the 1916 book, with the addition of numerous new features, is still better than the one of last year. The book is a complete catalogue in itself. The right side of each page is given over to the departments, while carefully arranged opposite them are the advertisements of men engaged in the business to which the department lists on the opposite side have reference.

The book was printed in the job department of the Gazette and is an excellent example of line printing and workmanship. The board of directors ordered the best in paper, stock and composition and they have been given everything specified.

To make the fair more of an out and out county proposition the board has limited the entries of several of the departments, as culinary, fancy work, sewing, etc., solely to Rock county exhibitors. During the preceding two years of the fair it was discovered that many men and women make a practice of sending trunk after trunk of goods to the secretary by express.
They would not be present personally,
but nevertheless their exhibits generally were of such a nature as to eliminate the amateur from competition, and as a result prize money in batches went to the professional exhibitors.
This has been done away with this year through the limiting of entries to Rock county people. It is expected to open a field for those who previously have not sent in their products and to exemplify more forcibly just what Rock county men and women are doing in their farms, gardens and shops and homes. Stock, cattle and other departments are open to all breeders and owners.

The high school is planning on a greater exhibit than was the case last year. The grade schools will also show their work, and Superintendent O. D. Antisdel is preparing a big exhibit from the county schools.

The Bower City Bill Posting company has been awarded the contract for the placing of the outside advertising display. This will be stretched throughout the southern part of the state and northern Illinois over a radius of fifty miles with Janesville as the center. More newspaper advertising in the county papers is planned this year by Secretary Nowlan, it being figured that this proves a better medium for publicity than the billboard.

Brought a Sample With Her.

side his shop window. For fully half an hour she stood there gazing in. She fumbled and fussed, and at length brought forth a little packet.

a small stub end came to view. The tobaccoist raised his eyebrows inquiringly. "Good afternoon," said the lady, holding up the stub end gingerly for inspection. "Here is a remnant of one of my husband's special cigars.

was served on John Heffernan, son of Bert Heffernan, by an uncle of John,
John Earl Heffernan. In the warrant
John Earl alleged that on June 3rd, in the town of Center, his nephew threatened to assault, beat and kill him, and he brought court action on him, and the young man placed under peace bonds, fearing that his life was in danger.

The trouble is alleged to have started over repairs being made to the road in front of the farm of John E.
Heffernan, and according to those interested in the case, the controversy indirectly, is the result of a family feud. The complaint charged that the nephew addressed John Earl Heffernan when the two were arguing over the repairing of the road, in the following manner: "If you come out here, I'll wallop the ground with you."
It is also alleged that the nephew young man threatened, "If you come out here, there will be a job for the undertaker."

The facts as learned are that John Earl did not "come out" and there was no assault made by either person in the controversy. The verbal argument is alleged to have taken place after John and his father left the road and had started down the highway at noon time. Every chair in the court room was filled by people from this district, where the trouble arose and they were forced to wait nearly two hours before court opened. Attorney Nylan, representing the defendant, asked for an immediate hearing and Attorney E. H.
Ryan, appearing for the complainant, asked that the case be continued over until tomorrow morning at nine-thirty o'clock, to allow the complainant to bring his witnesses before court.
This motion was granted by the court.
The state case against Charles Hes-senauer, charged with assaulting John Enlow, a colored motorist, was dismissed when Attorney E. H. Ryan, reported that settlement had been made out of court. The complaint alleges that Hessenauer had made an attack on Enlow and the complainant's face showed that he was beaten rather severely.

BIG DELAVAN PARTY
BOOSTS HOME-COMING

Celebration to Be Held There June 20-22—Visit Janesville Advertising Event.

Twenty-five business men and members of the Delavan Commercial club, and accompanied by a twenty piece band, were in Janesville at noon today advertising a home coming celebration to be held at Delavan on June 20, 21 and 22. The party was an enthusiastic crowd and yelled and cheered as their machines came in and ran down the city streets. A large concert at the corner of Milwaukee and Main streets. The trip of the boosters today covers an itinerary of over one hundred miles. Delavan is making great preparations for the event and hundreds of visitors are expected during the three days.

A prominent Janesville business man and a member of the Retail Merchants' association, who witnessed the demonstration remarked: "It is going to bring a great number of people to Delavan and I don't think that it would be a bad idea for Janesville business men to advertise our home coming in the same fashion."

Linen Almost Indestructible.
Linen will last for centuries. Linen fabric 4,500 years old has been found in the tombs of the Egyptian kings.
In the older times it was practically the only cloth used, probably because of its cleanliness. It was known in Winchester, England, in 1272. In this country there are nearly 50,000 persons employed in the weaving of linen.

Cause of Gastric Ulcer.
As a result of experiments on dogs,
Drs. W. E. and E. L. Burge of Urbana, Ill., announce in the Journal of the American Medical Association that ulcers of the stomach are caused by the decreased resistance of a circum-scribed area of the stomach to the digestive action of the gastric juices, and this spot is partially digested by the pepsin.

BOYS INTERESTED IN THE ANNUAL CAMP

Twelve Boys Already Signed Up to Go to Annual Phantom Lake Y. M. C. A. Camp.

Much interest is already being shown by the boys of the Young Men's Christian Association in the annual summer camp which will be held at Phantom Lake this summer. In the past division twelve have signified their intention of going and in the county division three or four have signed up. It is expected that twenty or more will go to Phantom Lake during the period set aside for the camp, July 26 to August 9. Boys who expect to go and have not yet signed up should do so soon as there is a limit to the number that can attend the camp at one time. Reports from different parts of the state show that there will be a great many more boys at the camp than in other years.

The camp that is conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association every year is a most ideal place for parents to send their boys. The state Y. M. C. A. conducts four camps: Phantom Lake, (Chalmers) Sturgeon Bay and at the state fair. The camp at Phantom Lake is the place of most interest to Janesville boys.

The resort at Phantom Lake is fully equipped so that it offers all kinds of amusement for the boys. Along the lake shore are two buildings, one used as a dining room and kitchen and the other as a store house. The assembly building, where the gatherings are held, contains a large open fireplace, camp library, store, correspondence table and piano. There is an athletic field providing a place for baseball, track and other forms of athletics. There is a basketball court and four double clay tennis courts. The lake provides a fine place for swimming, and each tent group is provided with a large rowing boat.

The leadership at the camp is one of the main factors of the Y. M. C. A. camp, and there is always plenty of wholesome "camp spirit" as it is called. W. H. Jones, secretary of the state boys work division, is general superintendent of the camp and the other camp directors are made up of physical directors and Y. M. C. A. secretaries. Boys who intend to go should apply for information from Boys' Secretary H. J. Center and send in their registration fee. If it is paid before June 15 it is only fifty cents, and after that date it will be one dollar.

MUCH WORK IN MAY FOR VISITING NURSE

Miss Joyce Makes Over One Hundred Calls on Adults and School Children.

The wide scope of the work of the city visiting nurse is shown by the report filed by Miss Elizabeth Joyce, for the month of May, to be submitted to the council. A hundred and twenty-five calls were made by Miss Joyce on adults and children, who were afflicted with various ailments, in the case of school children, troubled with minor, yet important afflictions, of the visit of the nurse is all that is necessary to get the parents' respect to provide medical attention, the aid given by the nurse often prevents a more serious illness. Fifteen calls were made on school children during May.

NEARLY ONE HUNDRED ARRESTS DURING MAY

Janesville suffered a relapse in its morals during May, according to the report filed by Miss Elizabeth Joyce, during this month than for any previous period in some time. The total arrests numbered ninety-six, almost twice as many as the usual monthly average. This report was filed this morning by Chief P. D. Champion with City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund to be laid before the council at their meeting Tuesday afternoon.

There were fifty-nine cases taken before the court for prosecution, and thirty-seven discharged from custody by the chief of police after an investigation. There were sixty-four cases of drunkenness during May, nine arrests for larceny, five for auto speeding, and a number for violations of the city ordinances. Several were arrested for statutory offenses, and portions were made of arrests of women, who were ordered out of the city. Officer Harry Smith made twenty-three arrests during the thirty-one days in May.

PREPAREDNESS WILL BE THE WATCHWORD

Evening Parade on Night of the Fourth Promises to be Most Novel and Unique.

Interest displayed in the evening parade on the night of July Fourth promises to be most interesting, entertaining, instructive and unique. With invitations sent to the secretary of every lodge and club in the city of Janesville to aid in making the preparedness parade a success, it is expected that many hundreds will be in the line of march when the bugle blows forward shortly after seven-thirty. Predictions of how long the parade will be can not be made. This early in advance of the plans, but it is safe to say that headed by the Boy Scouts, the youthful guardians of the peace of the world in the decades to come, with bands playing and the various fraternal organizations in line, with floats, lights, bands, maces, orders of various nature and the general marching clubs with torches will be an impressive sight to witness. A. J. Chairman, William Taylor is planning for novel and unique features that will make the affair a success. Prominent business houses will be asked to furnish floats, which will illuminate the parade. It is to show the opinion of Janesville on this all important question, and coming as it does on the Fourth, it is peculiarly significant and will attract more than a state-wide interest. Janesville has a reputation for furnishing unique entertainments, but this year's plans for the fourth are more elaborate than ever. The morning program, including the three hundred school children singing patriotic songs, the bands, the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Miss Evelyn Welsh, the prayer by Chaplain of the Day, Rev. and William Mahoney, the address by a speaker of prominence, the daylight fireworks, novel, unique and something entirely new, the None Such Bro. parade in the afternoon and the other various entertainments arranged for mean much to the success of the day. It is going to be a day replete with entertainment and crowned in the evening by the preparedness parade in which the local every organization in the city will take a prominent part.

CATTLEMEN MEET TODAY IN CHARGE TO DEMAND NEW FREIGHT RATE LAWS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 5.—A convention of cattlemen was held here today for the purpose of arranging to enlist the assistance of the Republican national convention in the fight of the shippers to obtain what they consider fairer rates from the railroads.

The nucleus of the meeting was the Uniform Live Stock Contract committee, of which S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth, Tex., is chairman. He read the report of a meeting of the committee last April, at which the conferees were unable to reach an agreement on a uniform contract.

A today's convention was called by J. H. Mercer, Kansas state sanitary live stock commissioner and secretary of the Kansas Live Stock association. According to Mr. Mercer it is planned to send representatives to the Democratic convention also, and to seek to have both parties make a plank in the cattle transportation problem in all its numerous aspects a part of their platform.

One of the objects of the gathering, as set forth in the official call, is: "To consider what action should be taken by the live stock producing states of the country to secure that interest relief against free trade in live stock and live stock products; that is, to secure equal rights and fair rates in all matters pertaining to live stock and live stock products as affected by import duty."

"AFTER ME THE DELUGE."

Once there was a king of France, a narrow-minded old Bourbon, who slipped the good things of life, oppressed the poor, and hoisted the flag of republicanism. He was a man of the future, a man who thought only of himself and never of the future. Wisconsin is having a taste of the "deluge" right now. The efforts are re-assembling the fragments of an efficient state government from the ruins of the ultra progressive rebellion against law and order is trying work. The nation has witnessed the deluge come after the reign of the Bourbon king, just because one set of men objected to a conservative order of affairs and sought to rule or ruin.

Will history repeat itself? Will Wisconsin, partially redeemed from the almost anarchy of dissolution of any stable form of government, again place its head in the collar of obedience to the throne of the ultra progressive? How or will the fight out and win another victory for good government? Will the nation continue the rule of the "watchful waiting" democratic policy that states nowhere, ends nowhere and makes us the laughing stock of even the humble and ignorant Mexican peon, or will they select some good, strong man to lead them out of the wilderness into the promised land of milk and honey?

These are questions that are vital, both to Wisconsin and to the nation. More particularly to the nation and the men assembled in Chicago to place in nomination a good, true and honest man as leader of the advance guard of prosperity. A man whom all the world will respect and fear it need not, but a man with judicial temperance who will keep from embroiling the nation with any other and at the same time demand and obtain respect for the American flag and American flag.

The types of the nation are contained in the Chicago convention and the deliberations and the outcome will have a lasting effect upon Wisconsin also.

ORGANIZATION.

The old lesson taught in previous campaigns of lack of organization on the part of candidates is being studied to advantage by Mr. Jeffris and his campaign advisors. Mr. Jeffris accepted the call of the republicans of the state to become a candidate for the nomination for the United States senatorship and before he gets through with his campaign the people of the state are going to know that he is running.

He is not a slacker and those who feared that he would take the stump at once and denounce this or that issue, berate his opponent in the strongest kind of language, have been previously disappointed. Thus far Mr. Jeffris' addresses to various audiences have been mostly conservatives. Have been statesmanlike and worded in such a manner that their language could not be mistaken.

Facts have not been jumbled. Fiction has not been created. Figures have not been called upon to disprove this or to prove that statement, but all the statements made have been statements that could be verified and express in such language that it is above the carping criticism of the average jingoist who writes of guff and talks of pro-German or pro-English attitudes.

But, better still, the Jeffris campaign is being organized the length and breadth of the state. Men, thinking men, are joining the uprising to place in Washington a man who will honor his state and his constituents. A man whose ambition is to serve his country and his state and not his own personal ambition for office and power. He is not organizing a machine; he is bringing together men who believe as he does that the time has come for casting intelligent votes on national issues.

all its public spirit, in many respects does not establish a bathing beach with bath houses for the men and women and a guard to watch after the safety of all who enjoy the dangerous river depths.

The cities located on lakes or rivers, have such bath houses, have such bathing beaches, why not Janesville? Here we have unexcelled facilities for bathing, under certain conditions, and it would be a nominal cost to erect bath houses and employ a guard to prevent the possible loss of life. One life is worth more than hundreds of dollars in actual money, yet thousands, when the real worth is estimated. Why not consider such a plan before it is too late?

The Rock river is an enticing old stream at best. It flows along in a steady, sluggish movement. It apparently is in no hurry except where it rushes across the dams or eddies around the abutments of some bridges yet in all it is a treacherous stream at best. It is full of deep holes and like all mud bottom rivers it is dangerous to the unwary who do not know its whims and caprices.

Each year there is a toll of life due to carelessness and homes are saddened by the unfortunate drownings that occur. Why not eliminate this hazard and have a bathing beach and a person to guard against such mishaps? Why wait until too late? It now is a slogan that could well be adopted to this appeal.

The small boy will go into the water even though he knows a whipping awaits him at home. The tired workman will take a dip after his day's work is over and others enjoy the cooling ripple of the waters as they cleave them with strong arms. Why not make it safe for young and old and make Janesville truly a summer resort with bathing as one of the delights?

CHURCH FINANCING.

A man got up in a meeting of a church that had been unbusinesslike in its arrangements, and suggested that as they seemed to be running behind in money matters, the church should be closed until a balance had been accumulated from pew rents and pledges. It is needless to say that his proposal was not seriously considered.

Another man, in the meeting of the same society, remarked that he didn't understand why it was that a business man considered his receipts before deciding what he should spend, while the church decided what to spend and discussed the matter of receipts later. The only answer that could be made to his pertinent inquiry was that churches are not run like other enterprises.

The churches are full of sincere and pious people who have had little experience with business methods, and they do not quite see how slipshod their methods look to the business community. For instance many churches will figure on this basis. There will be at the close of the year 1915 as usual a certain amount of unpaid pledges and pews. They will call these pledges receipts, a part of the 1916 income. Then they will include in the 1916 income, the portion of the 1915 pledges and pews that was unpaid January 1st, 1916, but is being paid during 1916. This one class of receipts is counted twice in one year.

It is very easy to figure out a surplus on this basis, but it does not go into business. Another common error is to account for a deficit by showing that it went into repairs on the building, and considering that this adds to the value of the property so as to increase the assets of the society. Such expense for repairs should be considered as a part of regular running expense, as work of that kind has to be done regularly on any building.

The churches would appeal much more strongly to men if they would lead their members to their treasuries, and have their accounts and methods passed on and approved by substantial business people.

The Beloit pageant was a wonderful display of the history of what has been accomplished in Rock county in really a short space of time. It is unfortunate that more could not have enjoyed the sights presented and profit by the wonderful creative display of those who had charge of the spectacle.

It would appear that Italy, after months of fighting, is really losing ground and Austria gaining some Italian territory. To have believed the war critics all Italy had to do was to advance into Austria and end the war when the trouble first started.

Wisconsin has annexed a championship at last. This time it is track matters and they well deserve the victory so hard earned.

The warm summer days are coming. The waters of the river are most enticing and the call to the small boy to tear off his clothing and have himself in his cooling depths is most certain to follow. It is indeed unfortunate that the city of Janesville, with

GENTLEMAN SINGING DOWN.

The Pawtucket News says: "Having your office upstairs may be inconvenient at times, but it has its advantages in times of peace as well as war. The first thing we done when we moved in our new home over the baker was to go into executive session with the village carpenter and commission him to rebuild the stairway on the plan of the old-fashioned window shutter, which could be controlled with a lever just inside the sanctum door. Now when we see a bill collector approaching from afar we don't stand in fear and trembling like we used to. No, sir! With all due solemnity for the occasion we assume our position and just as he approaches high unto the top, over goes the lever, the stairs present a perfect plane and down goes the collector. Being a collector, the first thing he does is to collect his scattered personality. Then he gazes around, sees the steps in position, concludes he must have stepped on a banana peel and up he goes again. We have had some of

Not only should an article of food be healthful. It should also LOOK well, small good and taste appetizing. What is more BEAUTIFUL, particularly to a hungry boy or girl, than one of our delicately brown loaves of bread, odorless of wheat, nutty flavored and satisfactory? Our bread is not only good to eat, but is an added attraction to your table.

Danger Pointed Out.

During a class in construction work in one of the primary grades of the public school, the teacher endeavored to make the children understand that they should be careful in handling the scissors they had to use. Shortly after that Joey, a little chap of six, noticed the little girl across from him standing on one foot beside her desk with the sharp end of the scissors pointing directly toward her eye. With all due authority he called out: "Look out! You better watch out or you'll be wearin' a wooden eye."

ANNOUNCE DATE FOR PLAYGROUND OPENING

BOARD OF EDUCATION FIXES
JUNE 24TH AS DAY FOR BE-GINNING TEN WEEKS'
PERIOD.

DIRECTORS ARE NAMED

Guy Curtis, Former High School Instructor, Gets Position as Head Director.—Assistants Appointed.

Janesville's playgrounds, the recreation spots for the children of the city, will open the fourth season for a period of ten weeks, starting June twenty-fourth. The board of education, which has charge of the summer work, held its regular meeting at the high school last evening and elected the directors for the grounds. Guy Curtis, a former teacher at the local high school, who had charge of the grounds and was head director in place of Walter Cox, who held the position for the past three years, Mr. Curtis has been attending the University of Wisconsin for the past year and while there made a special study of playground work. He is confident that Mr. Curtis will be a very capable director.

Directors for the four school grounds were also elected. Although they will not accept the positions, Edward Atwood, who has been in charge of the Washington grounds, was named as instructor for this place. Stanley Metcalf of this city and a student at Lawrence College was named to take charge of the Adams school grounds. Robert Cunningham, who has had charge of the Jefferson school, will probably take the duties at this place, and Victor Hemming will take the Webster school, where he has been stationed for the past three years. Should these young men accept their appointments the Janesville playgrounds will have a very able corps of instructors.

It is expected that the same sort of work will be carried out as has been in the years past. The board ordered that old and worn out apparatus should be renewed before the opening so that everything will be safe and sound. The tennis courts will be put in shape and some live and interesting tournaments are sure to take place. Baseball, volleyball and tournaments in all sorts of games will be arranged for the summer vacation.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
- BY DAISY DEAN -

William S. Hart, the star, recently completed work on a new feature in which 121 Sioux Indians appear in his support. The title of the play is "The Apostle of Vengeance," and in it Hart plays the part of the half-breed.

He spent many days about the studio trying out various styles of make-up before he was satisfied that he had struck the right one, and then he started with camera men and the Indians up to Mount Baldy, where most of the work was accomplished. Hart's make-up was so accurate that it became the leading topic of someone noticed that among the Indians there was one brave, Harry Lane Bear, who strongly resembled Hart as Hart had made-up.

The curious part of it was that Hart had not tried to make-up for any particular Indian, but rather as a composite. He was as much interested in the discovery as any other, glad to know this, he remarked, "because if anything should happen, I'd have an understudy work while."

Alice Joyce in "PICTURE AGAIN." Announcement is made that the famous screen star, Alice Joyce, has signed with the company.

Since Miss Joyce's statement a few weeks ago, announcing her intention of returning to the screen, after a year of private life, much interest has surrounded her, and those who have watched her excellent work on the screen for years will welcome her return. It is stated that this famous player will be starred in the leading female role of now film masterpiece, "The Battle Cry of War," which is a sequel to the world-renowned "Battle of Peace."

This role will afford Miss Joyce excellent opportunities in which to display the talents which endeared her to the public before her retirement.

Audrey Munson is the artist's model who creates a furor in photo play circles when she first appeared about a year ago in "Inspiration."

Vivian Rich, impersonating a shepherdess, was chased by a sheep while preparing to appear in a scene

W. S. Hart in "The Apostle of Vengeance." He plays only western roles. In his next picture he will be seen as a real red Indian.

AT THE APOLLO.
Alice Brady Tonight.
How would you like to lose the hand of the sweetest girl in the land after you had become engaged to her and had built air castles of your future happiness with the woman you loved? That's the fate which Providence decreed should befall to Archie Wickert, a railroad financier, in "Then I'll Come Back To You," the World Film corporation feature at the Apollon tonight, with Alice Brady playing the star role. You see, Archie did not prove to be the right man for her, and although she had thought so once, when Steve O'Mara came back and showed her that he was just the man for just the kind of a girl she was, well, it was all over with Archie and Steve won the little lady. However, "Then I'll Come Back To You" is not entirely a love story. There is running throughout that thrilling romance of Steve O'Mara, who, when a boy, had told Barbara Allison that he would go out in the world and make good, and then he would come back to her. It was ten years later that Steve returned, and he made good with a vengeance, but not until he had met with a great many obstacles.

AT THE APOLLO.
America's Greatest Rural Drama Screened.
In the flood of thrilling romances, vulgar comedies and sex dramas, it is a relief to find a good old-fashioned play like Denman Thompson's rural classic, "The Old Homestead," being adapted for the motion picture screen. This beloved old comedy-drama, which for over thirty years has held the laughter and tears of the public under its magic spell, has been adapted by the Famous Players Film company and will again be presented at the Apollo on Thursday.

Bobo, The Mischievous Monk.

in an emotional play. The camera wasn't set up at the time and comedy material was lost to the world. Her shepherdess impersonation is in "The Wheel of Fate."

gers, and it is estimated by Frank Thompson, son and heir of the celebrated author-actor, from whom the rights to the adaptation were obtained, that in the three decades during which the play was being presented on the stage, it was seen by over twenty million people in the United States and Canada. Though it might seem that such an estimate was too high, it must be remembered that during the entire period that Denman Thompson was presenting the play and appearing as the beloved Josh Whitcomb in person, there was at least one other company touring the country in the same play.

AT THE APOLLO.
Marguerite Clark Stars in "Molly Make-Believe."
"Molly Make-Believe," an adaptation of the celebrated romantic story which ranked among the "six best selling" ever since it appeared in print, is the next stirring vehicle in which delightful little Marguerite Clark is to appear. This celebrated story is in the Famous Players attraction on the Paramount program at the Apollo tomorrow.

AT BEVERLY THEATRE.
Wonderful Scenes Pictured for "The Soul of Elizabeth."
Nothing that quite equals the novel and lavish magnificence of many of the scenes in "The Soul of Elizabeth," William Fox's latest success, at the Beverly theatre, starring Valeska Suratt, has been displayed through the medium of the motion picture camera since the making of the first crude "flickers." In the first place there is daring and novelty in the very spirit displayed in the making of these scenes. Ultra-modernism marks them and the furniture and draperies all correspond in their general key of futuristic art.

For instance, the scene showing the boudoir of La Valencia (Miss Suratt) where she receives her infatuated old millionaire admirer, is a revelation in the modern use of black and white in decoration. This is an immense set containing hundreds of pieces of furniture and properties, yet everything harmonizes, which is not surprising when it is considered that everything in the room was especially designed and constructed with this end in view. The immense expense attaching to this may be imagined; but Herbert Brenon, the director, has been given carte blanche by Mr. Fox to make "The Soul of Elizabeth" the most lavishly staged picture ever screened, and those who see it will admit that Mr. Brenon has done so.

AT BEVERLY THEATRE.
Lillian Walker Featured in "The Ordeal of Elizabeth."
A merry opening is given this Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, in the shape of a sleighing party, in which people among whom is pretty Elizabeth Van Horst, the leading feminine character of the play which is interpreted delightfully by Lillian Walker. "The Ordeal of Elizabeth" will be presented at the Beverly on Wednesday with Lillian Russell in the leading role. A comedy will also be shown.

AT BEVERLY THEATRE.
"Britton of the Seventh" on Thursday
"Britton of the Seventh," the latest Blue Ribbon feature, is presented at the Beverly on Thursday, is a picture that will please lovers of good photography. One of the interesting facts concerning this masterpiece is that the Indians who are seen in many war scenes in the wilderness and in the big massacre scene in which that famous Indian fighter, General Custer, figures prominently, were brought from the Indian reservations in Oklahoma to San Antonio, Tex., where the picture was filmed. The troops of soldiers shown are none other than the Fourteenth U. S. cavalry, now engaged in the bandit hunt in Mexico which form part of the advance guard of General John J. Pershing. During the taking of "Britton of the Seventh," the "Fourteenth," under Colonel Sibbey, was stationed at San Antonio. They were furnished with uniforms which were exact duplicates of ones worn in 1875, when Indian troubles were most prevalent, and under the guidance of their colonel made very capable actors.

NEWEST FIELD FOR WOMAN'S ACTIVITIES

Emma C. Miller Demonstrates That She Can Travel in Advance of a Genuine Circus as Press Agent.

"The man's a fool who thinks by force or skill To stem the torrent of a woman's will; For if she will, she will, you may depend upon it, And if she won't, she won't, and there's an end on it."

Evidently when Miss Emma C. Miller started out to be a press agent for a genuine circus she decided she would, and that was "the end on it." At any rate she sets a new pace for her sisters in the field of activity and has invaded the realm long thought sacred to men. Of course there have been women press agents, but not for a circus. Miss Miller is distinct in her personality. She has the natural, fresh color of youth, a set of teeth that glitters as she talks; she discusses all sorts of topics with a thorough understanding, and above all, she is refined and sweet in disposition. It is a novelty to have such a person ahead of a circus like the Al. Barnes show, which arrives here on Friday, and it really gives a tone to the whole production.

Miss Miller travels four days ahead of the tented aggregation she represents, and she is ready to tell all its features in a fresh, breezy, absolutely advance, but rattled off on a type writer, which stopped when told that the story must not be too long.

Our show will arrive here early Friday morning, and at 10:30 you will have the opportunity to see the only parade showing open dens of animals with their trainers. There are six bands that play real circus music, the kind that makes you warm all over and gets you so excited you see double. Over a mile in length, great gold and silver cages, tableaux and band wagons, carrying the handsomest men and prettiest of women, all bedecked in royal robes. It is a sight to be long remembered.

"Remember, the day only begins with the parade, for at 1 p. m. the doors of the main tent are open and for an hour you can see and talk to nearly every species of animal and learn a great deal about these wonderful actors. You know the Barnes show is different from all others, because we act as done by animals. They ride horses, jump through hoops of fire, do high-dives, dance, and the funniest clowns are the pigs and elephants. We have fifty human clowns; one of them is a woman, and she is a great laugh producer.

"The 'silly' things are done by the lions, tigers, jaguars, pumas, bears and leopards. Just think of a woman being placed on a pedestal and talking to a lion and hoisted to the top of the tent amid a bombardment of sky-rockets. Well, Miss Mable Stark and her pet does that every day. Harry Louie Rothe is seen in the arena with thirty lions at one time. He brings one of the man-eating beasts to the front of the arena and with all the other beasts looking on, puts his head into the lion's mouth, later the same animal takes a piece of raw meat from Mr. Rothe's naked lips.

"Oh, yes, I must tell you about the beautiful girls that dance in the lions' dens. Dressed in Spanish costumes these girls flirt with these jungle kings, and sometimes the big fellows do not want to be flirted with. Then you can see things that make you shiver, but these daring girls know just what to say and do to make their pets behave.

"Boxing kangaroos, wrestling bears, riding and driving ostriches and 550 of the best trained horses, ponies and mules to be found anywhere, among them the famous quarter of Arabian stallions, valued at $40,000. These are the horses that let the animals ride them. You see they are finer in mind and body and are easier to make understand what you want them to do. Just imagine huge elephants curving their smile, went on her way, press agenting in other towns.

Uncle Eben.
"A man dat has an ax to grind," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to be mo' use to you dan de man dat jes' wants you to listen to funny stories."

On Life's Journey.
How the view changes as we pass along the great road. At first only the billtops are visible, rosy and radiant under the enthusiasm of youth, then the level plains come into sight flooded with the light of midday, then slowly we slip into the valleys where the long shadows fall like memories across our hearts.—Selected.

Gives Advice To All Her Friends

Oshkosh Woman Tells What Tanlac Did For Her And Advises All to Try It.

"I recommend Tanlac to all my friends because it has helped me and I know what it will do," began Mrs. Katherine Foss, recently while telling of her experience with the new medicine. Mrs. Foss is a well known Oshkosh woman living at 241 Pearl street. "I suffered terribly from biliousness and liver trouble," she continued, "and was generally run down in every way. I had no appetite and my digestion was poor. I would get tired out whenever I exerted myself and was also quite nervous. I slept badly at nights. I took Tanlac on the recommendation of a friend and will say right here that it helped me wonderfully. I now feel much better than I did because I now have a good appetite, good digestion, and more strength and energy than I have known in years. I always take every occasion to recommend Tanlac to my friends and I am sure that they will get relief if they use the medicine as directed."

Tanlac is made mainly from roots, herbs, and berries and is compounded by skilled chemists so as to give the best results in stomach, liver and kidney ailments as well as rheumatism and catarrh. Tanlac is nature's own medicine. It contains no harmful drugs or injurious minerals and its action while quick and effective is without any bad after effects. Hundreds of people have taken Tanlac with good results and are daily telling their friends and neighbors about this truly great remedy.

Tanlac may be obtained here at Smith's Drug Store.

The TURMOIL

Copyright 1916 by Harper & Brothers

"Natural law," said Gurney. "What do you think beat you with Edith? Did Edith, herself, beat you? Didn't she obey without question something powerful that was against you? Edith wasn't against you, and you weren't against her, but you set yourself against the power that had her in its grip, and it shot out a spurt of flame—and won in a walk! What's taken Roscoe from you? Timbers bear just so much strain, old man; but you wanted to send the load across the broken bridge, and you thought you could bully or coax the cracked thing into standing. Well, you couldn't! Now here's Bibbs. There are thousands of men fit for the life you want him to lead—and so is he. It wouldn't take half of Bibbs' brains to be twice as good a business man as Jim and Roscoe put together."

"What?" Sheridan giggled at him like a zany.

"Your son Bibbs," said the doctor, composedly. "Bibbs Sheridan is the kind and quantity of 'gray matter' that will make him a success in anything—if he ever wakes up! The thousands of men fit for the life you want him to lead aren't fit to do much with the life he ought to lead. Blindly, he's been fighting for the chance to lead it—he's obeying something that urges to stay alive within him; and, blindly, he knows you'll crush it out. You've set your will to do it. Let me tell you something more. You're half mad with a consuming fury against the very self of the law—the law that took Jim from you. The very self of the law took Roscoe from you and gave Edith the certainty of beating you; and the very self of the law makes Bibbs deny you tonight. The law beats you. But you've set yourself against it, to bend it to your own ends, to wield it and twist it."

The voice broke from Sheridan's heaving chest in a shout. "Yes! And by God, I will!"

"So Ajax defied the lightning," said Gurney.

"I've heard that dam-fool story, too," Sheridan retorted, fixedly. "Defied the lightning? Did he, the jackass? If he'd been half a man he'd 'a' got away with it. We don't go showin' off defyin' the lightning—we hitch it up and make it work for us like a black steer!"

"Well, what about Bibbs?" said Gurney. "Will you be a really big man now and—"

"Gurney, you know a lot about bigness!" Sheridan began to walk to and fro again, and the doctor returned gloomily to his chair. He had shot his bolt the moment he judged its chance to strike center was best, but the target seemed unaware of the marksman.

"I'm tryin' to make a big man out of that poor truck yonder," Sheridan went on, "and you step in, beggin' me to let him be Lord knows what—I don't! I suppose you figure it out that now I got a son-in-law, I mightn't need a son! Yes, I got a son-in-law now—a spender!"

"Oh, put your hand back!" said Gurney, wearily.

There was a bronze inkstand upon the table. Sheridan put his right hand in the sling, but with his left he swept the inkstand from the table and halfway across the room—a comet with a destroying black tail. Mrs. Sheridan shrieked and sprang toward it.

"Get it lay!" he shouted, fiercely. "Get it lay!" And, weeping, she obeyed. "Yes, sir," he went on, in a voice the more ominous for the sudden hush he put upon it. "I got a spender for a son-in-law! It's wonderful where property goes, sometimes. There was ole man Tracy—you remember him Doc—J. R. Tracy, solid banker. He went into the bank as messenger, seventeen years old; he was president at forty-three, and he built that bank with his life for forty years more. Gilt edge, that bank? It was diamond edged? He used to eat a bag o' peanuts and an apple for lunch; but he wasn't stingy—he was just livin' in his business. He didn't care for pie or automobiles—he had his bank. It was an institution, and it come pretty near bein' the beatin' heart o' this town in its time. Well, that ole man used to pass one o' these here turned-up-nose and turned-up-panes cigarette boys on the streets. Never spoke to him, Tracy didn't. Speak to him? God! He wouldn't 'a' let him clean the cuspidors at the bank! Why, if he'd 'a' just seen him standin' in front the bank he'd 'a' had him run off the street. And yet all Tracy was doin' every day of his life was workin' for that cigarette boy! Tracy thought he was givin' his life and his life-blood and the blood of his brain for the bank, but he wasn't. It was every bit—from the time he went in at seventeen till he died in harness at eighty-three—it was every last lick of it just slavin' for a turned-up-nose, turned-up-panes cigarette boy. And Tracy didn't even know his name! He died not ever havin' heard it, though he chased him off the front steps of his house once. The day after Tracy died his old-maid daughter married the cigarette—and there ain't any Tracy bank any more! And now—his voice rose again—"and now I got a cigarette son-in-law!"

Gurney pointed to the flourishing right hand without speaking, and Sheridan once more returned it to the sling.

"My son-in-law likes Florida this winter," Sheridan went on. "That's good, and my son-in-law better enjoy it, because I don't think he'll be here next winter. They got twelve thousand dollars to spend, and I hear it can be done in Florida by rich son-in-laws. When Roscoe's woman got me to spend that much on a porch for their new house, Edith wouldn't give me a minute's rest till I turned over the same to her. And she's got it, besides what I gave her to go east on. I'll be gone long before this time next year, and when she comes home and leaves the cigarette behind—for good—she'll get more. My name ain't Tracy, and there ain't goin' to be any Tracy business in the Sheridan family. And there ain't goin' to be any college foundin' and endowin' and trusteein', nor God-knows-what to keep my property alive when I'm gone! Edith'll be back, and she'll get a girl's share when she's through with that cigarette, but—"

"By the way," interposed Gurney. "Didn't Mrs. Sheridan tell me that Bibbs warned you Edith would marry Lamborn in New York?"

Sheridan went completely to pieces: He swore, while his wife screamed and stopped her ears. And as he swore he pounded the table with his wounded hand, and when the doctor, after storming at him ineffectively, sprang to catch and protect that hand, Sheridan, wrenched it away, tearing the bandage. He hammered the table till it leaped.

"Fool!" he panted, choking. "If he's shown snubbin' enough to guess right the first time in his life, it's enough for me to begin learnin' him out!" And, struggling with the doctor, he leaped toward Bibbs, thrusting forward his convulsed face, which was deathly pale. "My name ain't Tracy, I tell you!" he screamed, hoarsely. "You give in, you stubborn fool! I've had my way with you before, and I'll have my way with you now!"

Bibbs' face was as white as his father's. "No, you can't have your way," he said. And then, obeying a significant motion of Gurney's head, he went out quickly, leaving them struggling.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Mrs. Sheridan, in a wrapper, noiselessly opened the door of her husband's room at daybreak the next morning, and peered within the darkened chamber. At the "old" house they had shared a room, but the architect had chosen to separate them at the new, and they had not known how to formulate an objection, although to both of them something seemed vaguely reprehensible in the new arrangement.

Sheridan did not stir, and she was withdrawing her head from the aperture when he spoke.

"Oh, I'm awake! Come in, if you want to, and shut the door."

She came and sat by the bed. "I woke up thinkin' about it," she explained. "And the more I thought about it the surer I got I must be right, and I knew you'd be tormentin' yourself if you was awake, so—well, you got plenty other troubles, but I'm just sure you ain't goin' to have the worry with Bibbs it looks like."

"You bet I ain't," he grunted.

"Look how liddable he was about goin' back to the works," she continued. "He's a right good-hearted boy, really, and sometimes I honestly have to say he seems right smart, too. Now and then he'll say something sounds right bright. 'Course, most always it doesn't, and a good deal of the time, when he says things, why, I have to feel glad we haven't got company, because they'd think he didn't have any gumption at all. Yet, look at the way he did when Jim—when Jim got hurt,

"No, You Can't Have Your Way."

He took right hold o' things. And Doctor Gurney says he's got brains, and you can't deny but what the doctor's right considerable of a man. He acts sleepy, but that's only because he's got such a large practice—he's a pretty wide-awake kind of a man some ways. Well, what he says last night about Bibbs—that's what I got to thinkin' about. You heard him, papa; he says, 'Bibbs' 'll be a bigger business man than what Jim and Roscoe was put together—if he ever wakes up,' he says. Wasn't that exactly what he says?"

"I suppose so," said Sheridan, without exhibiting any interest. "Gurney's crazier 'n Bibbs, but if he wasn't—if what he says was true—what of it?"

"Listen, papa. Just suppose Bibbs took it into his mind to get married. You know where he goes all the time—"

"Oh, Lord, yes!" Sheridan turned over in the bed, his face to the wall, leaving visible of himself only the thick grizzle of his hair. "You better go back to sleep. He runs over there—every minute she'll let him, I suppose. Go back to bed. There's nothin' in it."

"Why ain't there?" she urged. "I know better—there is, too! You wait and see. There's just one thing in the world that'll wake the sleepiest young man alive up—yes, and make him jump up—and I don't care who he is or how sound asleep it looks like he is. That's when he takes it into his head to pick out some girl and settle down and have a home and children of his own. Then, I guess, he'll go out after the money! You'll see. Now, I don't say that Bibbs has got the idea in his head yet—or else he wouldn't be talkin' that fool-talk about nine dollars a week bein' good enough for him to live on. But it's comin', papa, and he'll jump for whatever you want to hand him out. He will! And I can tell you this much, too: he'll want all the salary and stock he can get hold of, and he'll hustle to keep gettin' more. That girl's the kind that a young husband just goes crazy to give things to! She's pretty and fine-lookin', and things look nice on her, and I guess she'd like to have 'em about as well as the next. And I guess she ain't gettin' many these days, either, and she'll be pretty ready for the change. I saw her with her sleeves rolled up at the kitchen window the other day, and Jackson told me yesterday their cook left two weeks ago, and they haven't tried to hire another one. He says her and her mother been doin' the housework a good while, and now they're doin' the cookin', too. 'Course Bibbs wouldn't know that unless she's told him, and I reckon she wouldn't; she's kind o' stiffish-lookin', and Bibbs is too up in the clouds to notice anything like that for himself. They've never asked him to a meal in the house, but he wouldn't notice that, either—he's kind of innocent. Now I was thinkin'—you know, I don't suppose we've hardly mentioned the girl's name at table since Jim went, but it seems to me maybe it—"

Sheridan fung out his arms, uttering a sound half groan, half yawn. "You're barkin' up the wrong tree! Go on back to bed, mamma!"

"Why am I?" she demanded, crossly. "Why am I barkin' up the wrong tree?"

"Because you are. There's nothin' in it."

"I'll bet you," she said, rising. "I'll bet you he goes to church with her this morning. What you want to bet?"

"Go back to bed," he commanded. "I know what I'm talkin' about; there's nothin' in it, I tell you."

She shook her head perplexedly. "Then—do you know something about it that you ain't told me?"

"Yes, I do," he grunted. "Now go on. Maybe I can get a little sleep. I ain't had any yet."

"Well—" She went to the door, her expression downcast. "I thought maybe—but—" She coughed prefacefully. "Oh, papa, something else I wanted to tell you. I was talkin' to Roscoe over the phone last night when the telegram came, so I forgot to tell you, but—well, Sibyl wants to come over this afternoon. They expect to get off by the end o' the week, and I reckon she wants to feel she's done what she could to kind o' make up. Anyway, that's what he said. But what I thought was, no use bein' rough with her, papa—I expect she's suffered a good deal—and I don't think we'd ought to be, on Roscoe's account. You'll—you'll be kind o' polite to her, won't you, papa?"

He mumbled something which was smothered under the coverlet he had pulled over his head.

"What?" she said, timidly. "I was just sayin' I hoped you'd treat Sibyl all right when she comes, this afternoon. You will, won't you, papa?"

He threw the coverlet off furiously. "I presume so," he roared.

She departed guiltily.

But if he had accepted her proffered wager that Bibbs would go to church with Mary Vertrees that morning, Mrs. Sheridan would have lost. They meant to go to church. But it happened that they were attentively preoccupied in a conversation as they came to the church; and they had gone an incredible number of blocks beyond it before they discovered their error. However, feeling that they might be embarrassingly late if they returned, they decided that a walk would make them as good. It was a windless winter morning, with an inch of crisp snow over the ground. So they walked, and for the most part they were silent, but on their way home, after they had turned back at noon, they began to be talkative again.

"Mary," said Bibbs, after a time. "Am I a sleep-walker?"

She laughed a little, then looked grave. "Does your father say you are?"

"Yes—when he's in a mood to flatter me. Other times, other names. He has quite a list."

Has Faith In Remedy

Mrs. H. S. Carlson of Wakefield, Nebr., testifies to the relief she experienced from the use of Fruitola and Traxo:

"I used Fruitola and Traxo with very good results, having passed almost a cupful of gall-stones with the first bottle. My skin is clear, now, and I have a good appetite. I have lots of faith in Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardest particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a splendid tonic, alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through representative druggists. In Janesville they can be obtained at J. P. Baker, 123 W. Milw. St.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mul-sified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and costs the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

PHILIPP DESIGNATES JUNE 14TH FLAG DAY

Governor's Proclamation Issued on Saturday Names Day for Honoring National Emblem.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 6.—Before leaving for the Philippines, Saturday, Governor Philipp signed the proclamation designating June 14th as flag day. He pointed out that it was on June 14, 1898, that congress enacted laws designating the stars and stripes as the emblem of a new nation.

"The flag of our nation is the simplest and most beautiful expression of a national ideal," says the governor's proclamation. "Its red and white stripes, representing the beginnings of our history, are fixed in number; but the part which is called the union, with its shining constellation of a host of blue, has always had room for another star. The flag, like the nation, stands for the idea of growth and solidarity. The flag of a country destined to grow, to make of itself new seekers of liberty from all parts of the world, and not to become weak and disunited as it grows, is our national motto. It is well for us to have our national emblem, by a beautiful symbol, express the same idea."

"At the time it was adopted, the nation for which it stood did not exist in the hopes and dreams of a people. It stood for an idea. Out of that idea, which found expression in this inspiring form, a nation was to be born. To keep this idea before us today, to understand it and to feel its inspiration, is as important as ever it was. We cannot go forward as a nation and work out our destiny as a people except by the power of that ideal which has guided us in the past. Being such an emblem as it is, and of all flags the most significant and the most beautiful, it is well for us to bring to the breeze upon its birthday and pause to give consideration to its meaning."

POLICE WARN AGAINST SWINDLER IN NEW GAME

Members of the police department announced this morning that police in various cities have encountered a clever swindler, who passed bogus checks on merchants, especially hardware dealers. Some time ago a similar swindle was tried here on a merchant and he is warning the citizens that they may again attempt the fraud. A well appearing stranger goes into a store and represents himself to be a railroad man, or an employee of a known out-of-town firm. He wants to buy a stove for a birthday present for his wife. Most any article of merchandise will do. He agrees to pay cash when his check arrives on a train later in the day. The store owner delivers at a certain hour in the afternoon. Sure enough, the purchaser comes in with the check several hours later, and the amount is always around one hundred dollars. The store owner cashes the check, pays the swindler the balance and has the stove sent to the address at the specified hour. When the stove is delivered the driver finds either an empty lot, vacant house or a family living there who did not order a stove. When he reports back to the store, the swindler has departed with the balance and the stove received on the check.

ASSESSORS SET VALUE ON THE ELECTRIC COMPANY

Assessors from Janesville and townships, in which the Janesville Electric company own property, and officials of the electric company met this morning at the city hall to set the assessment and value of the property owned by the company. This morning, the assessors, after deciding on the valuation, appraised the property owned by the company in that district. After adjourning at noon, the meeting was resumed this afternoon.

Height of Elephants.

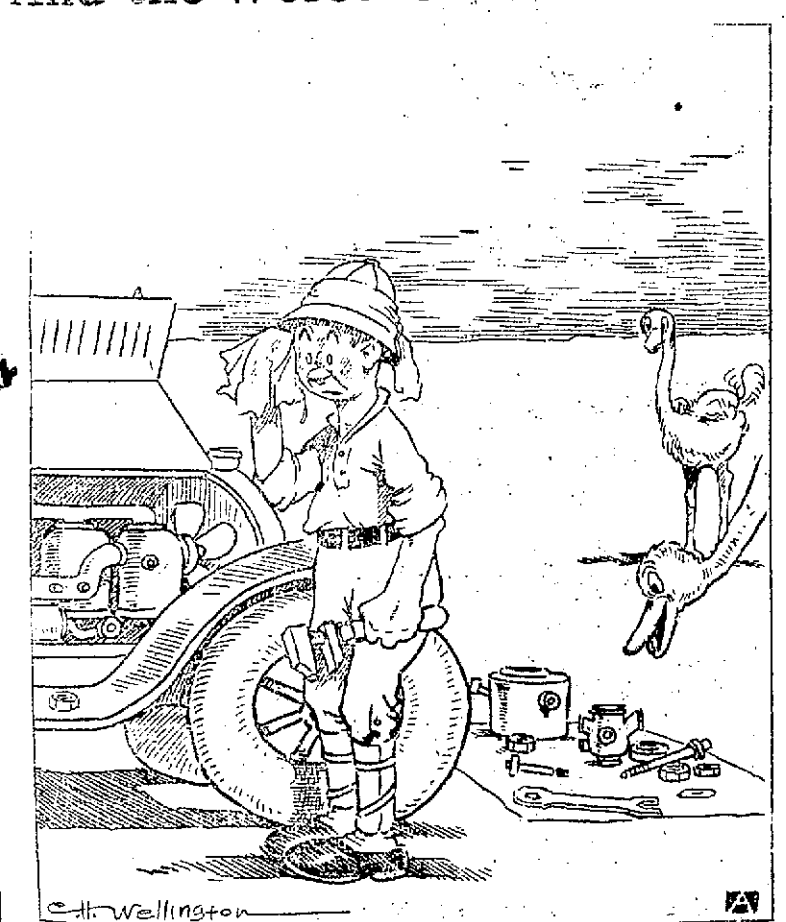

The largest of all proboscideans is found by British museum naturalists to have been a straight-tusked elephant, at least 15 feet tall, which has been made known by bones discovered within the last three or four years in a trench at Uppur, on the Madway. The tusks are believed to have been 10 feet long. The American imperial mammoth hitherto regarded as the largest elephant, was 13½ feet tall, and the true mammoth probably did not exceed 9½ feet. The modern Indian elephant is a foot taller than this, while the ordinary African elephant may reach 11½ feet.

Chile's Debt to the Incas.

Not until the Incas made their presence felt in Chile was the llama introduced and made known, not only for its wool, but for its qualities as a beast of burden.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, June 6.—The first band concert of the season given by the Edgerton Cornet band will be given Wednesday evening. Chas. Leaver of Edgerton has the band in charge and a good concert is expected to be given for some time past and several new members have been added. The popular concert of the past seasons made the Edgerton band a favorite in this community and on concert nights the streets are thronged with people.

Monday, June 12th is the date set for the picnic of the German Lutheran church. The band has been engaged for the day and the baseball team of the Northwestern college at Watertown will play a picked team from this city. These picnics have been greatly enjoyed in the past and a large attendance is all ways on hand to enjoy the day.

The Edgerton credit association held a meeting at the K. P. lodge room last evening.

Some of the members of the Progressive study club made a trip to Madison yesterday in a body and took in the sights of the city. The advance of the day was spent in enjoying the sights of the city of Madison.

They made the trip on the train. The boys' band held a meeting last evening and decided to discontinue practice for the summer months. The boys have progressed very rapidly this winter and next year they hope to be able to join the band.

FOOTBALL STAR HAS A BIG HAIRCUT BILL

Goode, Colgate Linesman, Cut Fresh man Student's Hair and Court Assesses Him Eight Hundred.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Syracuse, N. Y., June 6.—Monroe who was 180 pounds of Colgate's husky line last November when it crumpled in the stadium before the victorious Syracuse onslaught, can't leave Wampsville without having it cost him $800.

While the classmates of the sturdy left guard of the football team are attending classes in the pretty village of Hamilton and indulging in social and athletic activities of student life, Goode's boundaries consist of the jail limits of quiet Wampsville.

Goode was not good for a $250 judgment found against him for participating in a moving-up fracas at Colgate a year ago when some students decided that the locks of Walter Eddy, a young farmer boy, were badly in need of shearing.

A supreme court jury failing to see the joke, it cost the Colgate boys just $500. At a rough estimate, Goode Ferris Edwards, Richard Devine and Lewis Genesee were ordered to pay between them approximately a half dollar for each hair of Eddy's luxuriant crop.

The trial justice considered the verdict was too severe, and he decided that the evidence had not been sufficient to connect Edwards, Devine and Genesee with the tontorial party, so they were freed from all liability. Also the $500 judgment was cut in half and Goode was ordered to pay $250.

Time passed and the Moroon football star did not pay the $250. Eddy and his attorneys began to think that the Hamilton, N. J. boy had an intention of settling the bill, so they had

Investigated

BEFORE we decided to sell G & J Tires, we made a most thorough investigation. Finding that G & J 'G' Tread had demonstrated its efficiency as an anti-skid, and had also shown its extra mileage qualities by standing up under the most severe sort of road tests on thousands of cars, we felt that in the G & J we had a tire that we could stand behind, knowing that it would make good.

It is because we have investigated G & J Tires and are certain of the values they offer, that we recommend them so highly.

It is because we know, that we ask that your next tire be a G & J.

SOX LOSE CONTEST IN THE FIRST ROUND

Chicago Americans Like the Cardinals Go to Sleep in the First Inning and Then Fight in Vain.

Sleeping on the job the first inning cost the White Sox a 2 game with the New York Americans at Chicago Monday. Joe Benz started the game and scratch hits, real flukes, caused him to quit the mound, after giving the New York club a three run lead. The Sox stoppaws, Danforth and Russell, stopped the Yanks thereafter, while the Sox gathered in two runs on bobbies by the Yanks, in the first and sixth innings.

J. Collins started with a single and Weaver sacrificed. Eddie Collins singled, but his namesake stopped at third. Ness walked, filling the sacks and in this crisis Jabs got called out on strikes. Felsch bounded to Baker, who fumbled, permitting Collins to score. The other score was made on a wild throw in the sixth. Cullon pitched for the Sox park today.

Heinie Zimmerman won the game for the Cubs at Boston Monday, when he stole home, and club cupping the pitching battle by the slug count of 1 to 0. Gene Packard pitched airtight ball for the Cubs, while Nell did some tall, southpawing for the Braves. The Cubs only got two hits off Nell and the Braves four off Packard. Zimmerman annexed the game in the fourth by his daring pitching. He led off with a double and was advanced on Baker's fly. With two down, Zimmerman got a long lead on Nell and made a wild dash to the plate. Nell's throw was too wide and the Great Zimm got away with his daring stunt.

During the Cub-Braves game, Eddie Mack of Boston, gambler and boxing manager, was shot through the left thigh in the second inning, during an argument over a bet. The injured man refused to reveal the name of the man who fired the shot, and the man escaped in the crowded stand.

New York's winning Giants lost a ten-pinning game to Cincinnati, 2 to 0. The Reds won the series of the Giants, three to two. They held the Giants and opened the tenth with a three base hit and scored on Chase's single.

In the American league, Detroit won its third straight game over Washington, 4 to 0. Coveleskie beat the Senators, 3 to 2 in a pitching duel.

ATHLETICS HAVE EASY WIN OVER WILLOWDALE SOX, 50

The Janesville Athletics completely shut out the Willowdale White Sox Sunday afternoon at Willowdale by a count of 5 to 0. Bick, the Janesville leaver, was strong on fan-outs and in the whole game ten men were set out. Following are the line-ups:

Willowdale: Utzig, c; Eastman, p; L. Mooney, ss; Bowley, 1b; Green, 2b; Tracy, 3b; Mooney, lf; Crane, cf; Nantz, rf.

Janesville Athletics: Marshall, c; Bick, p; Flannery, ss; Plummer, 1b; Wolf, 2b; Braumond, 3b; Dora, lf; McCue, cf; Mulligan, rf.

JANESVILLE ALL STARS WIN FROM ROCK HILL CUBS

Five games straight is the record made by the All Stars when they defeated the Rock Hill Cubs by the score of 6 to 2 Sunday. Lenz, playing second base for the Stars, won the game by going a home run with two runners on the base lines. The two teams will play again Sunday, the eleventh, at the Rock Hill diamond, where the last game was played. The battery for the losers was Buggs, catcher, and H. Gresslin, pitcher, for the Stars, Hager and J. Crowling. The lineup of the winners was as follows: Crowling, c; C. Hager, p; Bick, ss; Marks, 1b; Lenz, 2b; McKinley, 3b; Babcock, O'Carey and Rhodes, fielders.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF DUNNE FAMILY TO ENTER MICHIGAN.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 6.—Another member of the famous Dunne family of athletes is preparing to enter Michigan. He is a brother of Morris Dunne, who is a member of the football and baseball teams. Several years ago Ed. Dunne played first base for the Michigan nine. The younger Dunne has been prominent in recent interscholastic and dual meets in Illinois and will probably enter Michigan next fall. Incidentally, the father of these able young men is the governor of Illinois.

JENNINGS UNABLE TO GET ANY FIRST CLASS PITCHERS.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Detroit, Mich., June 6.—Although it has been rumored that several well-known American League pitchers were on the market, Manager Jennings, of the Detroit club, has been unable to obtain them. It is understood that he recently made an attractive offer to Cleveland for Willie Mitchell, after Cleveland writers declared Mitchell might be sold—but not to the Tigers.

WHITEWATER IS DEFEATED BY FORT ATKINSON CLUB

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Fort Atkinson, Wis., June 6.—Fort Atkinson crawled up a notch in the central league race on Sunday by defeating Whitewater, 2 to 1. Hyland's Coutre for the first run. Hale batted out a triple in the sixth and scored on Coutre's double. Hyland's error in the ninth gave Whitewater their only run. Both Sox and Laferty pitched good ball. Bohr was hit by a pitched ball in the first inning and seriously injured.

MORRIS MILLER

President Farrell of the New York State league has decided the dispute over the services of Eddie Gagner in favor of Scranton. Gagner reported to Wilkesbarre and played a couple of games, but did not reach satisfactory terms. He is signed with Scranton, whereupon Wilkesbarre protested.

Now that the Pennsylvania State league has collapsed there is talk again of transferring either the Troy or Albany franchise of the New York State to Harrisburg. The Pennsylvania capital wants baseball and will support the right kind, but it wants none of the Hugh McKinnon-Leo Green brand. The Pennsylvania State league lasted two weeks, the promoters threw up the sponge, leaving the players unpaid, as such promoters usually do. The National association, having had experience with the services of the Rogers, recently demanded it protection. Some of the players cast adrift went into Al Lawson's Atlantic league.

Manager Len Fohl is the envy of some other team leaders. With only twenty men or so on his payroll and some of them under such contracts that they can be cut off on ten days' notice, Fohl is in shape to make changes in emergency. Recently he released Pitcher Rip Hagerman to Portland and then took on Pitcher Marty McHale, former Yankee and Red Sox. Valvers on Pitcher Willie Mitchell were withdrawn when Detroit refused to waive, for Fohl did not like the idea of having one of his former players on a rival team in the same league. Fohl says, however, that it is his intention to carry out six pitchers as soon as he can assemble his staff to suit him.

Fritz Malsel's accident, which will keep the Yankee speeder out of the game for at least a month, kills all chances for his being in the race for the base running honors this season. In 1914 Malsel set up one of the most remarkable records in the history of the game when he stole 76 bases on a batting average of .339. Last season he hit much better and finished the season with 51 thefts. At the training camp this spring Malsel announced that he hoped to surpass his 1914 record this year, but he got away very poorly and stole only three bases in the first month of the campaign. His injury makes it a certainty that he will be out of the fight.

With the coming of Rip Hagerman the Portland club decided to transfer Oscar Harstad to Spokane of the Northwestern league, in exchange for Kenneth Williams, the outfielder recently returned by the Cincinnati Reds to Spokane.

Ping Bodie threatens to quit the San Francisco Seals and go into some other line of work. A score but been erected on the right field fence of the San Francisco park that cuts off Ping's chance to make a new record for home runs and he is sore about it.

Scout Eddie Herr of the St. Louis Cardinals is said to have asked the Oakland club to put a price on pitcher Elmer Martin, but since he is about all of the Oakland team the owners declined. President Leavitt of the Oaks is credited with saying that $25,000 would not buy Marty now. It's a cinch then that Martin won't be sold, though he's sure to go in the draft if he keeps up his good work.

President T. K. Jackson of the Mobile club, with Dr. H. T. Inge, a member of the club's directing board, have been at the north interviewing major league managers in an effort to secure talent that will put the Mobile team in the running. They thought they might get Claude Cooper from the Phillies, but about the time they saw Norma Cooper going to the game in Chicago and looked like the best outfielder on the Philly team.

Manager Johnny Dobbs of New Orleans, who was over the team limit and worried about how he should dispose of Jimmy Eschen has found a way. With the "retirement" of Orrie Weaver the Pel manager has decided to make Eschen as an outfielder, who, though named as a pitcher, has had experience in the box. If Eschen does not make good New Orleans hopes to land Marty McHale for good and go into the business of running a store in his home town.

Pitcher Rube Kinsinger has passed out. Failing to get into shape for New Orleans club has sent him home to his Michigan farm. Rheumatism in his shoulder ended the pitching days of the veteran. New Orleans is likely to lose another pitcher, as Weaver has told Manager Dobbs that he thinks he will quit the game for good and go into the business of running a store in his home town.

President Walter Morris of the Texas league is making a big hit with the fans of the circuit by issuing playing averages at the end of each game in which all the details of work done are furnished. Texas averages in the past couple of seasons have not been issued in a satisfactory manner. Morris' move is another evidence that he is the right man for the job and the Texans have cause for congratulation.

Milton Stock of the Phillies figured in a peculiar strikeout in one of the games his team played in Cincinnati. Just as he swung for the ball the bat flew from his hands, and he finished his third strike with a routine, but empty paws. "Not a legal strike-out," he said, "I had no bat in my hands; therefore since no man can bat with his bare fists, how could it be a play of any kind? I'll take it up with John K. Tener." Byron, "That, however, will take some little time, and as we can't delay the game, you will consider yourself struck out," said Stock, "but I give you warning that if I win this case you'll all have to come back here. Schneider will have to pitch that ball over again, and you'll have to judge it, and that will be tough on you if the decision isn't handed down till next winter."

Complaints are heard in North-western league circles that the umpires are entirely too technical in inflicting fines. Harry Powell is accused of fining Guigni $5 because the player called himself a "rotten batter" after striking out, and he also fined Bill Rose a like amount because Rose stamped his foot or something like that when he missed a strike. Baxter of Seattle says the best sign of how well in Seattle the better the fans will like it.

Three cushion billiard play for the world's title now held by McCourt may be given up next year. Next year the winner of the Interstate league race, in which most of the top cities of the country have representatives, may be hailed as champion. A right set of rules is also proposed to govern interstate matches.

Fans at the Cubs-Whales park in Chicago have been pulling some of the old-time stuff, such as soaking umpires with mud balls, running out on the diamond and delaying the game after the fashion of school boys at a lot game and all that. As a result visiting managers are demanding that there be something like major league discipline in Chicago games.

Five years has brought about great changes among the baseball players of the major leagues. Almost 60 per cent of the men who figured in the opening games of 1911 have faded and slipped into the minors or out of the game entirely. Only 32 of the 141 men who played in the opening games of 1911 figured in the opening contests of 1916.

James Jerpe, the sporting writer of Pittsburg who has been blind for the past two years but continues his good work in the game in spite of that affliction, may be tendered a benefit game. Johnny Evers is working it up. His plan is for a team of National league stars to meet a team of American league stars in Pittsburg, the receipts of the game to go to Jerpe. It is soon test of the popularity of a baseball writer when all players will turn a hand for him. Incidentally some test of the heart that beats below John's shirt front. We suggest as a feature of the proposed benefit that the sporting writers play and that Evers be allowed to score their errors.

DIDN'T FEEL LIKE IT. Lady: Now that you have taken of a good dinner, are you equal to the task of sawing some wood? Tramp: Madam, equal is not the proper word. I'm superior to it, am.

DO YOU KNOW THE CODE OF TOBACCO SATISFACTION?

"GIVE me W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew"—is more and more becoming the Chewing tobacco code between the men who know and the dealer who is wise.

Dealers know that men pay the price for W-B CUT Chewing because it's rich tobacco—with comfort and satisfaction in a small chew. Get your pouch today and start in getting the comfort of a better chew.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste!"

"Good for You!"

"I Say, Joe, that was some clout you hammered out. These 'homers' are the ones that count. That one of yours will sure 'sew up' this game. You think it funny to see an old fellow like me so interested, but I feel as young and frisky as a kitten."

"BLATZ Beer is responsible—I've been drinking it for well nigh fifty years. It keeps me toned up and makes me healthy and strong."

Blatz The best beer brewed

George Stovall, for four years manager in the big leagues, in an editorial in the Kansas City Star, says: "And here's another thing that may sound odd, but it's true just the same, and every old ball player will tell you so: a glass or two of beer after a game does not hurt any ball player—on the contrary, I believe it is a good thing. The player has expended a lot of energy; is hot through and through and a glass of beer will do him good. I've done that all my life, and nine out of every ten ball players who have played the game for ten or twelve years have done the same thing and will tell you so."

The Triangular label on all BLATZ beer is a guarantee of uniform purity and flavor

Said my wife unto me, his wife said unto him, and my wife is a bear for the news, she'll cop off a lingo some neighbor has pulled and yank the stuff out of his shoes, she'll bolster a story goes limpy and lame and make the thing go with a slam, she knows of the whyness, the whicness, and such, she's hell to all doings what am. Well, his wife said to him, so my wife said to me, "you're a mournful sad sorrowful gink, you look like a funeral director, old man, of nothing but gloom can I think, when I slant the dark coat trailing down to your heels, when I jump your old sister of black, I only can think of the wagon with plumes moving slowly from some widow's shack; the springtime is with us and you'll get a frock with mixtures some cheerful and bright, you'll can the black coat, or with it you shall wear, thin cloth gloves of beautiful white."

WISCONSIN PLAYS IMPORTANT PART

AFTER FIRST BALLOT IT IS POSSIBLE THE DELEGATION WILL BE UNITED.

DELEGATION IS DIVIDED

La Follette's Name Will Be Presented As a Lone Hope by Majority, While Eleven Will Vote for Hughes.

By a Staff Correspondent.
Chicago, Illinois, June 6, 1916.—This is the eve of the greatest national convention ever held in America. Tomorrow Chicago will be the capital of this country, for all eyes will be turned to the city within whose borders the future destiny of a great political organization will be decided. What happens here tomorrow will place the Republican party back upon a footing which will stand unshaken for another quarter of a century, or will make it again the minority party, a place it has occupied during the last four years.

To-day the handful of delegates that will make important decisions for the millions of Republican voters in the country are here, an imposing array of political talent, but after a more painful when the great body of the party it represents is considered. Its decisions must be wise if the party of Lincoln and Grant and McKinley is to survive.

All kinds and conditions of men are here. All phases of American life are represented, every trade and calling. Capital is here, its spokesmen some of the brightest men of the decade. Labor is represented, its spokesmen ready and able to advance its interests. Both of these great divisions of our national life—natural divisions of a great nation devoted to industry and trade and commerce—will have advocates who will ask more than they should receive. Both will be represented, on the other hand, by a controlling group which will discuss some demands and settle upon what is best for the nation.

All factions within the Republican party will have a voice in the convention, from the uncompromising conservative who still harks back to the days of a quarter of a century ago, to the unreasonable radical who would plunge the party into acts which must be doomed to failure. To balance these will be the rank and file of the convention, delegates who ask that the party progress so that each step will be thought out, who demand that which is good for the people, but will not be drawn into untold fields for the political preference of an individual.

Wisconsin, a pivotal state in the coming national campaign, will be in the limelight. By virtue of its having one of the favorite sons, even though that candidate is not figured in the result, the state will receive some attention. The fact that it is the one state that is sending a divided delegation in spite of the fact that it has a favorite son is of more interest.

However faithful the fifteen delegates who are for Senator La Follette may be when the first ballot is taken, it is known that the break must come sooner or later, and they will be watched closely. It is probable that some few of the fifteen will remain steadfast and vote for La Follette on the last ballot. It is certain, however, that some of them will go to the nominee, especially if it is Hughes or Roosevelt. It is rumored that at least one La Follette delegate will go to Hughes early in the count.

The eleven conservatives who make up the uncommitted delegation from Wisconsin are counted as the representation from Wisconsin who will have a part in the work of the convention. They will sit quietly in the convention, pledged to the best interests of the party and nation. The fireworks will be left to the radicals. But it will not be surprising if before the convention is over Governor Phillips's faction will be the leaders of a majority of the Wisconsin delegation rather than the minority. After the oratory which will place Senator La Follette in nomination and the submitting of plans which the senator will present for the platform is over, the wise counsel of the conservatives must have its effect upon those members of the radical delegation who, after all, are Republicans when national problems are represented, and who will care more for the welfare of the party than for the hopeless ambitions of one man.

Until then Senator La Follette will have his day in court. Delegate Olbrich will present his name with the confidence of a winner, and he will be ably seconded by the applause of at least fifteen delegates in the

IS IN CHICAGO TO PUT HUGHES OVER

Frank H. Hitchcock.

While the movement to nominate Justice Hughes for president has been more or less spontaneous, it is now well known that Frank H. Hitchcock, postmaster general under President Taft, has been working incessantly for many weeks to secure Mr. Hughes' nomination. No other man has been so active in the judge's behalf. Mr. Hitchcock is now in Chicago. Justice Hughes declares, and the former postmaster general admits, that he is not working in Mr. Hughes' behalf at the latter's solicitation.

Wisconsin section and from the ten delegates from North Dakota. There will be something to admire in the tenacity of this young man, backed by twenty-five delegates, who will defy the convictions of more than 900 other delegates who will be waiting patiently for the oratory to be over so that they can proceed to nominate another man. That man probably will be Hughes. It may be Roosevelt. It might be Cummins, or Root, or Burton or Fairbanks. It will not be La Follette, and unless Mr. Olbrich is gifted with unbounded optimism he will know while he is speaking that he is fighting for a forlorn hope.

Olbrich to Chicago.
Madison, Wis., June 6.—M. B. Olbrich of this city, who will place the name of Senator La Follette before the Chicago republican convention as a presidential candidate, left for Chicago today. Mr. Olbrich thinks that the nomination speeches will not be made before Friday.

Oldtime "Oratory" Unpopular.
A definition of "oratory" is difficult, but in the public mind that form of public speaking called "oratory" is either amusing or offensive. It is suggestive of the mouthing and ranting of some old-time tragedian who roared and bellowed on the stage. The public of today will stand for eloquence which bears the mark of sincerity, but the old form of "oratory" with gestures of practiced grace, frequent allusion to Greek and Roman history and plentiful quotations from the poets no longer stirs men to great depths or heights.

CALLS G. O. P. CONVENTION TO ORDER

Charles D. Hilles wielding gavel.

As chairman of the Republican national committee, Charles D. Hilles will call the Republican convention to order Wednesday. Hilles posed for this photo in Chicago a few days ago. In the picture he is seen with the same gavel he will use in calling the big meeting to order.

Seen On The Side At G.O.P. Meeting

Chicago, June 6.—There may have been larger crowds of people all going in the same direction at once—for instance, when Moses led all the people of Israel across a dry spot in the Dead Sea—but this beats any republican national convention in recent years.

This has not a thing to do with the convention, but at the Congress hotel, where several of the booms are located, all the bell boys and elevator genius talk with a distinct Cockney accent, and at the Kaiserhof, where La Follette and the embargo idea is quartered, bristling upturned mustaches are prominent and the clerks will talk German to you if you insist, and seem to take it naturally.

The crowd in the lobby of the Congress, which has to move together if it moves at all, swayed in the direction of the southeast corner, where stood two men, one wearing whiskers neatly trimmed and parted in the middle.

One of them had said, in a voice loud enough to be heard above the glee club which was announcing that Burton is from Ohio:
"My dear judge, if you lose out you have your own silence to blame."
It turned out that the man with the whiskers was an Indiana justice of the peace who came up for the convention and had neglected to reserve a room in advance.

Working newspaper men paraded Michigan avenue, in the calm before the storm, and looked pityingly upon millionaires who drove by. The poor millionaires did not have a ticket to the convention.

If they get woman's suffrage the republican party will lose the solid vote of the telephone girls. Everybody has been asking them to get somebody else in room so-and-so, and such-a-such a hotel, and no argument about the tariff is going to get them after this week.

Two delegates strayed into the Planters' cafe with their wives and one had a two days old copy of a newspaper containing the announcement that Roosevelt had issued an ultimatum to Hughes.
"Ah, ha," cried he. "Now we've got him. That eliminates Hughes!"
"Don't gloat over it so, Will," said his wife. "I have been interested in your fight for Roosevelt, but now that you have Hughes beaten I feel sorry for him. Remember he has a family the same as you have, Will."
"Never mind Hughes," said the other woman. "Clara will you look at the price of two boiled eggs. They are only eighteen cents a dozen. I know, because I bought some the day we left."

Good Japanese Custom.
Polite Japanese never have the grip because they commit "iki wo hiki," that is drawing in their breath sharply, a salutary custom which one doctor has declared incomparable as means of grip prevention, the idea being that Japanese are careful as to where and on whom they breathe and so keep the percentage of germ distribution at a rather respectable low figure.

FAST TIME IS MADE IN OILING STREETS

Nearly All of First Ward Streets Oiled By Department Today.—Repair North, Bluff Street.

Remarkable speed is being accomplished in the oiling of the streets by the street department. With the favorable weather conditions it is expected that all the oiling will be done in three weeks' time, at the most. Two weeks may complete the work if sufficient sand can be unloaded to cover the freshly oiled streets.

Far better work is being done this year than any time previous. The whole oiling has been reduced to a system, and every angle of the work speeded up so that no time or labor is lost. The oil received this year is up to the standard and passed the specifications set by the city, being very rich in asphalt. The oil is heated to a high temperature in the cars as they are shunted on the sidetrack at the boiler house, on North Bluff street. After being heated into a liquid form it is run off into the tank connected to the boiler and the temperature kept at the same point, very nearly boiling. The two oiling machines are used, one being filled while the other is in use.

With four horses, remarkable speed is accomplished with the new pressure distributors. Pneumatic power forces the oil out evenly and with great force, so that the street is oiled as fast as the two teams can walk. A carload of washed sand, screened to eliminate coarse gravel, has been obtained by the city. A dozen men have been employed in unloading the sand to the wagons, when it is taken to the street to be oiled. It is dumped on the curb lines, and the workmen manage to keep one or two blocks ahead of the oiling machine. Immediately after the oil is applied the street is covered with a thin cushion of sand and barricaded.

Drivers should use care in keeping off the oiled surface for at least four days' time, to allow the oil time to penetrate into the surface and harden the crown. About three-quarters of the street is oiled, leaving a sufficient space for traffic.

Streets in the First ward will be oiled by tomorrow afternoon. Starting Monday the workmen had all but a few streets completed in this district by this afternoon.

Extensive and needed repairs are being made by the street department on North Bluff street. This highway, which is one of the main traveled roads into the city, was in a deplorable condition last week from the rain and ravages of the winter elements. In the center heavy stone is being laid for a foundation, and the sides graded and graded. The city may oil the road later when the new roadbed is packed down. The oil will insure a good macadam road that will last some time under usual conditions.

VIENNA ERECTS LARGE COLD STORAGE PLANT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Vienna, June 6.—In the hope of bringing about some improvement in the food situation, the Vienna municipality has just erected one of the largest and best equipped cold storage warehouses in Europe. All the most modern American improvements have been adopted, and particularly some brought about by the experiences of the war. When completed the building will have six floors, but only three have been constructed now as the authorities are desirous of opening it as soon as possible. The total floor space will be 130,000 square feet, and there will be storage room for 15,000,000 pounds of frozen meat.

Police Deadline.
The police "deadline" in New York city, the especially guarded section which includes the financial district, covers the territory of Manhattan Island below Fulton street. The original use of the word "deadline" was to designate a line drawn around the inside or outside of a military prison, which no prisoner could cross without incurring the penalty of being immediately shot down. The word was especially used in the Civil war of open air inclosures or prisoners' stockades.
